

TASMANIA

Football in Tasmania has run under the banner of various leagues across the state. The main leagues have been the Tasmanian Football Association (1879-86), the State Tasmanian Football Association (1887-96, 1898-1905), the State Tasmanian Football League (1897), the Tasmanian Football League (1906-27), the Tasmanian Australian National Football League (1928-85), the Tasmanian Football League Statewide League (1986-98), the Tasmanian State Football League (1999), the Statewide Football League (2000) and the Tasmanian State League (2009-present). The TSL, which resumed in 2009, has given Tasmania a strong statewide competition with an even split of five clubs each from the north and south. Between 1909-78, the premier teams of the TFL/TANFL, the Northern Tasmanian Football Association and (from 1950) the North-West Football Union played off for the Tasmanian State Premiership.
